

CLAIMS

1. A sock comprised of a sole covering portion and a foot top covering portion and provided on at least an inside surface thereof with a plurality of particle-form projections made of an elastic composition material.

2. The sock according to Claim 1, wherein said elastic composition material is at least one selected from the group consisting of rubber and a soft synthetic resin.

3. The sock according to Claim 1, wherein said elastic composition material is mixed with at least one substance selected from the group consisting of a magnetic substance, a microbicial substances and a deodorant substance.

4. The sock according to Claim 1, wherein said particle-form projections comprises:
magnetic particle-form projections that mainly contain a magnetic substance in said elastic composition material, microbicial particle-form projections that mainly contain a microbicial substance in said elastic composition material, and deodorant particle-form projections that mainly contain a deodorant substance in said elastic composition material.